

HANYU REBORN
TRILOGY CASK SET INCLUDING THE SECOND CASK
EVER PRODUCED SINCE REOPENING

In 1941, Ichiro Akuto's grandfather, Isouji Akuto, who belonged to the 19th generation of the Akuto family, built the distillery along the Tone River, and received a license to produce alcohol in 1946. The distillery stopped producing whisky around 2000, and the remaining stock was moved around 2008 to Chichibu by Ichiro to be bottled under the brand Ichiro's Malt who famously created the ultra-collectable playing cards series.

With Hanyu now distilling again, we are thrilled to bring to you an exclusive offering of three exceptional casks including the Hanyu 2021 Cask No.2, which signifies that it is the second Cask ever to be filled at Hanyu since reopening. To put it simply, we believe this is the first time that a Japanese Single Cask Whisky has ever been offered to the public at auction!

- Hanyu - 2023 - Cask No.867 - Japanese Single Malt
- Hanyu - 2022 - 1 Year - Cask No.359 - Japanese Single Malt
- Hanyu - 2021 - 2 Year - Cask No.2 - Japanese Single Malt

The buyer of any one of these casks will receive up to five years of free storage at Hanyu's facilities, with insurance at retail value gratis courtesy of Hanyu. These casks can be bottled as early as three years after the distillation date, or further matured of course! There is no rush to bottle; after five years, we can help to arrange further storage either in cask or bottle, just email Truly@AckerWines.com for any assistance before, during, or after acquisition. The buyer will be able to command a distillery or custom bottling of their choice. Private client distillery bottlings are extremely rare! All buyers may request samples of their casks from 100ml-700ml, drawn gratis within 72 hours of request, and shipped globally for the cost of shipping only.

Furthermore, if it could even get any better, each buyer, and up to six guests in total, will also be offered complimentary pick up in Tokyo, a meet-and-greet in Tokyo at the Hanyu Origin Center, as well as free transfer to and from the distillery, plus lunch and a VIP tasting of multiple expressions from the distillery.

This is a first of its kind, exclusive opportunity and a great way to christen our inaugural Singapore live auction!!!
